Firemen Set April 30 for Wrestling Show

Grass Fire and Refrigerator Car Blaze Result in Calls Tuesday

Wednesday evening, April 30, has been announced by the Antioch fire department as the date for its annual wrestling and boxing show, to be staged in the high school gymnasium. Plans for the event are now being made by a committee under the chairmanship of James McMillen, athletic director for the fire department.

The fire department is feeling the effects of the national defense program, according to an announcement made at a business meeting Tuesday evening in the fire station. Delivery of a metal ladder ordered from the Peter Pirsch company of Kenosha has been retarded by the priority given defense orders for metals. However, delivery of the ladder is expected soon.

Two fire calls were received Tuesday. One, at 3:30 p. m., was for a grass fire at the Odd Fellows' hall on Ida avenue. Sparks from a passing Soo line train are supposed to have ignited the grass. There was no damage.

Torch Sets Fire

At 7:30 p. m. the department was called to the Soo Line depot, where workmen cutting metal from two refrigerator cars with torches accidentally set fire to one of them. About $35 damage resulted. The cars had been purchased by Dr. Elfenbaum, and were to have been moved to his farm by Ted Palaske.

Antioch firemen are planning to have a good attendance at the annual Lake County Firemen's convention, to be held Monday, May 26, at Grayslake. Arrangements for the convention were among the matters discussed at a meeting of the Lake County Firemen's association held Monday evening in Libertyville, with members of the Libertyville and Mundelein fire departments acting as hosts.

Firemen Are Complimented

R. C. Saunders, employed by the state in crime prevention work in the rural sections, complimented the Lake county firemen on their fire set-up for fighting arson cases and for co-operating with the sheriff's department in fire prevention work.

Boxing bouts were staged by the Libertyville Boys' club.

Waukegan will entertain the county firemen at their next regular meeting, Monday, April 28.

Fire Chief James Stearns and the several members of the Antioch fire department present at Libertyville joined the others of the 200 firemen present in advocating that letters be written from the individual departments to the Illinois Firemen's association, favoring the passage of the proposed volunteer firemen's pension bill.

Announcement was made that a proposed state bill for insuring members of fire departments, opposed in many localities because most of the fire departments already carried insurance, had been defeated.

"Tish" is Ready for Presentation at High School Mar. 3-4

"Tish," the hilarious three-act comedy which is to be presented at Antioch High school Thursday and Friday, April 3 and 4, is rapidly being brought into readiness for presentation by the two casts that have been rehearsing under the direction of Mrs. Marguerite K. Phillips.

The youthful players have been working hard for the past four or five weeks in order that they may put across in the most effective way the many amusing situations in the play. "Tish" is taken from the Mary Roberts Rinehart stories centering around this indomitable spinster and her two dear friends, Aggie and Lizzie, who share her hazardous experiences, hilarious predicaments, and triumphant denouements.

SALVATION ARMY WILL HOLD TAG DAY HERE

The Salvation Army will conduct a Tag day in Antioch on Saturday, April 4, proceeds to go to the War Relief fund. A quota of $250.00 has been allotted for Lake county.

Salem to Have Lively Town Election Tuesday

Spirited rivalry among candidates for four offices promises to make the annual town election in Salem township Tuesday one of the most interesting held in the Wisconsin community for many years.

The "Old Guard" organization which has been in power for many years will be deprived of one important source of support at the forthcoming election—the C. C. C. vote that came over two years ago to swing the election. In this situation the new candidates see a chance to overcome the vote-getting power of some of the incumbents in office. The C. C. C. camp formerly located at Fox River park and which had about 200 men enrolled, was removed to another location upon completion of the Fox River park project about two years ago.

For the office of town chairman, the veteran office holder Arthur G. Hartnell is faced with formidable opposition in William (Bill) Fox, his younger rival for the town's most important office.

Joseph Greenwald and Fred Meyers, incumbent supervisors, are opposed by William Cook and John Schlax. Two are to be elected. Alfred Schmidt, for town clerk, and Joe Fox, treasurer, are unopposed for re-election, and David Kimball and Leo McVicar are rivals for the assessor job. Arthur Bushing is opposed by Gerald Siebert for justice of the peace.

George Higgins, Edwin Manning and Homer Payne are the unopposed candidates for the three constable posts; and William Barthel, Louis Jepson and Matt Reiter have no rivals for the caucus committee jobs.

SPRING SPORTS PROGRAM STARTS AT HIGH SCHOOL

With the start of warmer weather, the spring sports program at Antioch High school is getting well under way.

Well-rounded programs, including a choice of activities, have been arranged for both the boys and the girls.

The boys' program includes track, baseball, golf and tennis. Of these, each boy may choose two in which he wishes to participate, Coach R. H. Childers states.

Track is under the supervision of Childers, baseball is coached by George Ergang, golf is directed by Elmo Edwards and Lewis Hack is the instructor for tennis.

The girls' activities, which include spring games and archery, are under the general supervision of Miss Helen Olson.

"CHINA MAKING" MOVIES SHOWN AT HIGH SCHOOL

Viewed and heard with considerable interest were the movie on "the making of Fine Chinaware" and the lecture on china making presented in the Antioch High school auditorium Friday evening.

Due to a popular counter attraction (the boxing tournament finals) being held in the same building, the attendance was less than it should have been, however, nearly a hundred persons availed themselves of the opportunity of seeing the instructive film that has much interest for local residents.

Mayor George B. Bartlett introduced the speaker, H. A. Pickard, president of Pickard, Inc., who explained the various processes of the manufacture of pottery.

Pickard also told something of the history of his company, which began by decorating imported china, and later turned to the manufacture as well as the decoration of fine chinaware, turning out a product that is distributed by exclusive stores in various parts of the United States.

Infantile Paralysis Campaign Nets $1,918.51

A report just released by County Chairman Joseph P. Daly of the committee for the celebration of the President's birthday ball sets the net total for the county at $1,918.51, fifty per cent of which has been forwarded to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The other 50% is retained in this county for the local fight against infantile paralysis.

Antioch community contributed $22.12 to the birthday ball fund and an additional $7.30 was raised through the sale of buttons, according to the report of the local chairman, Postmaster Roy Kufalk.

Dr. R. D. Williams, school physician, was in charge of the medical examining staff.

Several of the youths scheduled to take part had their entries cancelled, for illness or other reasons, on the recommendation of Coach Reuben H. Childers, in cases where the coach felt it was inadvisable for them to take part.

Stanwood Cobb, Child Psychologist, to Speak at McMillen Home Saturday

"Educating for a Better World" will be the subject of a lecture to be given Saturday evening, March 29, at 8 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McMillen of Antioch. The speaker will be Prof. Stanwood Cobb of Chevy Chase, Maryland, director of the Chevy Chase Country School, a school for the gifted child.

After graduating from Dartmouth College and teaching for a short time, Stanwood Cobb decided to enter the ministry and studied for two years at Harvard Divinity school. But he relinquished his clerical plans for the fruitful field of influence with youth in which his life has ever since been centered. His lecture tours have cov-

Among his outstanding contributions to literature is "The New Leaven" which became one of the leading books on the subject of new education. It is used universally in teacher's training schools, colleges and by teachers and parents. "New Horizons for the Child" embodies results of years of close sympathetic study of the child. A still later book entitled, "Character, A Sequence in Spiritual Psychology," is a compilation of a course of lectures given to youth.

Not only is Prof. Cobb a child psychologist of wide renown, but his

Candidates Have No Opposition in Village Election

Light Vote Is Forecast at Annual Balloting on April 15

With only one ticket in the field, and with little chance of a "write-in" campaign being staged on election day here on April 15, there seems no prospect of political railbirds enjoying a political fight.

Described as "eminently satisfactory," the terms of present village officeholders, from the mayor on down, have remained unchallenged for several years.

Again heading the Citizens ticket for re-election as president of the board of trustees is George B. Bartlett, who has been mayor of this man's town for 16 years with but one break occurring in his long tenure of office when S. E. Pollock took over the duties of mayor in 1927-28.

Trustees for Re-election

Three trustees also up for re-election have likewise served the village for several years. Walter I. Scott has served for six years; L. D. Powles, four years, and James Stearns, eight years. Village Clerk Roy Murrie has served four years as trustee and eight years as clerk; while Police Magistrate E. E. Brook is just completing his first four-year term in that office. The three holdover trustees, elected in 1939 for four year terms are: Art Rosenfeld, Cleve Vos, and Elmer Rentner.

The forthcoming election would be just an ordinary "run of the mill" balloting were it not for the fact that for the first time in history a woman is a candidate for a major political office—that of village treasurer—and Mrs. Vera Rentner is the lone candidate for the job of handling the village funds. Mrs. Rentner will succeed Russell Barnstable who has served for one four year term. The law forbids treasurers serving for two successive terms.

Loses Toes as Result of Elevator Accident

Getting along as well as can be expected, Arthur Meyer, who suffered injuries to his right foot that necessitated the amputation of three toes and part of a fourth Saturday, is still in St. Therese hospital, Waukegan, where he will probably have to remain for at least several days longer.

Meyer, who was employed by Lawrence Yopp, plasterer, of Grass Lake road, was engaged in moving some materials at the Antioch Packing house, where he was working on a job, when his foot became caught between the elevator and the floor, as he was riding up from one floor to another. He was extricated and rushed to Dr. A. N. Berke, who administered emergency aid and took him to the hospital.

Miss Hallie Keefe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Keefe, Ingleside, and Morris Down, Antioch, were united in marriage Saturday at Ingleside Community church.

book "Security for a Failing World" published in 1934 shows how clear is his insight into world affairs. This book is to be found in the Antioch Public Library. He is also co-editor of the magazine, "World Order," published in Wilmette, Illinois.

One Contested Office in Town Election Tuesday

Brogan, Sorenson, James Stage Contest for Justice of Peace

All is quiet on the town election front set for next Tuesday, except for the three-way contest for justice of the peace where three candidates seek the two vacancies to be filled.

The candidates for the justice job are the two incumbents, John Brogan and Raymond Sorenson, and J. C. James who was defeated by Sorenson by a margin of 41 votes four years ago. During his career in local politics James has served for 24 years as justice of the peace, and also served one term as police magistrate for the village, on office entailing the same duties as that of justice of the peace, but with different territorial jurisdiction.

All candidates are filed under the Peoples Party ticket, and the line-up of candidates is as follows:

Assessor—Ernest L. Simons
Town Clerk—C. F. Richards
Justice of the Peace (two to elect)—John Brogan, Raymond Sorenson and J. C. James.
Constable (two to elect)—James Webb and Edward J. Flanagan.
Town Collector—John L. Horan.
Members of Library Board (two to elect)—Mrs. W. W. Ward and George White.

Announce Legion "Medal Award" Series of Talks

Voting for the boy and girl of the Antioch Grade school graduating class who best exemplify the traits of "honor, courage, scholarship, leadership and service" will climax the annual medal awards program sponsored by the Antioch American Legion post.

The students chosen as outstanding in these qualities will be presented medals by the Legion. The presentation will take place at the school's graduation program.

Preliminary to the choosing of the students who will receive the awards, a series of talks is being given at the school, under Legion auspices.

Otto S. Klass, Americanism chairman for the Legion, spoke to the eighth grade students Friday on the details of the school medal program, and announced the speakers for the following dates:

March 28, 2:45 p. m.—The Rev. J. E. Charles, rector of St. Ignatius' Episcopal church, will speak on "Honor."

April 4—Dr. G. W. Jensen will speak on "Courage."

April 18—George Ergang, of the Antioch High school teaching staff, will talk on "Scholarship."

April 25—S. E. Pollock will speak on "Leadership."

May 2—J. O. Austin will speak on "Service."

Antioch to Have Weather Bureau

J. C. James reports today that he has received word from the United States Weather Bureau at Washington that a "Volunteer Weather Bureau" has been authorized for Antioch. The equipment will be placed in the village and observations will start on April 1. More detailed information regarding location and instructions for operation will be forthcoming from the Bureau within the next few days, James says.

Mrs. Elms to Be Candidate for Grade School Board

Two changes have been made in the candidates for positions on the grade school board, Mrs. Otto Klass, board secretary, announced following the filing of petitions on Saturday.

Mrs. Irving Elms, not previously announced as a candidate, filed papers, and Robert King, for whose candidacy petitions had been circulated, did not file.

Other candidates are Robert J. Wilton, for re-election as president; Arthur J. Laursen, Henry J. Rentner and Elmer Hunter. A president and two members are to be elected. Elmer Brinkman and Arthur Hawkins, board members whose terms expire, have declined to run for re-election.

The Observer

We're getting wearied of the word "communicate" in war stories. Howsabout using "communication," "message," "report," "rumor," "bulletin" and so on, just for a change? Ba gosh, mabbe some more of the folks would like to see some different words used, too.

It was a long time till noon Monday for some folks who "wondered why that whistle didn't blow," and then looked at their clocks and watches to see if they were slow. But now the truth comes out. Seems Marshal William Thieman was all wrapped up in his job of renovating the village hall a bit for the elections next Tuesday. Not wanting to come down from the ladder where he was perched, doing some painting, he was relying on Fred Petersen, street department supervisor, to sound off that siren. But Fred was busy, too, . . . and an anxious investigator, dropping in at the village hall to learn whether Bill had been overcome by paint fumes or something, found him painting away, oblivious to time, at 12:20. So, now, folks, you know the inside story. Nope, that whistle didn't just go off and you didn't fail to hear it. It just didn't go off. But boy, you should see how nice the village hall is getting to look. Meanwhile, Jim McMillen's dog Pat, who howls whenever the whistle blows, is adding to his evening prayers, "P. S., and bless Mr. Thieman for not letting that whistle go off, for once." . . .

We see by one of the papers we were reading where:

Aprora, Ill., March 22 (INS)—Captured with the aid of an English long bow and arrow, the world's most surprised prowler was held today.

He is Richard Akridge, 30, of Sterling, Ill., who broke into the home of William George four miles north of Aurora.

Ralph Mead, son-in-law of George, seized the bow and arrows which hung as relics on the wall, and marched the prowler to the basement with an arrow at his back. He then locked the basement door and called the sheriff.

Seems as if we read a story about that in the Sat eve post not long ago, or maybe it was a coupla other archers.

We kinda diverged and started reading a coupla magazines the other day along with the newspapers, and we came across an article that folks really ought to read, no matter what their convictions are. It's by Col. Lindbergh . . . and it has some pretty serious and sobering thoughts in it . . . as we think you'll agree, if you look up Collier's for last week and read it yourself.

Consider Veteran's Status on W. P. A.

Important changes affecting the status of veterans working on W. P. A. projects was brought to the attention of Antioch Legion Post officials Wednesday afternoon by William Tennermann of Deerfield, who is the chairman of the Bogardus commission with offices in the Lake county court house in Waukegan.

A Wise Needed Measure for Security

We have fallen in the habit of talking idly of federal billions in recent years, and it even seems on occasion that the nation is fast approaching the stage where "How much does it cost?" will no longer be a question that passes the lips of any American. But in our heart of heart, we Americans know that this is really not the case. We know that the present great costs of defense make it even more imperative that we pay close regard to other spending of all kinds.

A recent careful study of federal non-defense spending over the past decade helps to light up the dark and curious labyrinths of federal spending today. It points out 114 separate categories which show a growth of $3,665,197,000 of such expenditures between 1932 and the planned budget for the coming fiscal year, and it offers the following sane and measured comment:

"This analysis is in no way to be interpreted as a listing of items to be reduced or eliminated. But it is certainly a fact that the cost of the program of national defense, the end of which is not in sight, must soon make imperative a realistic and impartial examination of those fields of non-defense spending in which 'sacrifices' could conceivably be made. It will be increasingly evident as the rearmament effort reaches full volume that the United States may find it impossible to have its defense bread while eating the cake of unlimited special government services at the same time."

Here is sound doctrine. Of course we must spend all that is needed to make this country secure. Of course we must pay for needed government functions.

But in the more than three and a half billion dollars of extra federal non-defense spending during the past decade, impartial examination can surely disclose places where real savings can be made.

And wise economies in non-defense items are a measure of national security that can rank right up close to military preparations in the work of preserving the America in which we now live!

Industry Comes Through Again!

With the throttle wide open on a big defense program, it is imperative that this country possess full information on the fuel that stokes the industrial engine—the so-called "strategic materials" of defense. And it is certainly amazing to note that industry, though wrapped up in day-to-day problems of production, not so long ago took on for itself the added task of finding out all about this matter.

Through the National Association of Manufacturers, industry has now completed a comprehensive survey of the world disposition of raw materials, setting forth how the war has cut off or curtailed vital shipments, and, further, blueprinting what can be done by government and industry to avoid resultant obstructions to defense progress.

This scholarly report has been turned over by the N. A. M. to the Office for Production Management and to the Secretaries of War and of the Navy. It is a complete job, dealing with many related subjects—the building-up of "stock-pile" reserves, the development of new domestic sources, conservation of existing supplies, research for substitutes, and so on. Technically, it should prove of incalculable aid to the government and the country.

Its immediate lesson, however, is immediately applicable: That industry, without hesitation, has pitched in to make itself of "all out" service to the country, and is doing a complete and breathtaking job in all the fields where it is qualified to serve. The country can well be heartened by evidences like this.

One-Way Traffic

First traffic regulation for one-way traffic appears to have been established in New York city, December 17, 1791, when a regulation incidental to a performance at the John Street theater requested that "Ladies and gentlemen will order their coachmen to take up and sit down with their horse heads to the East River to avoid confusion."

Salt Water and Germs

The theory that "salt water kills germs" is false as proved by laboratory analysis and recent chemical tests of salt water on the eastern Atlantic coast and the fresh water of Lake Michigan. The bacterial content of both places was about the same.

CHRIST'S COMMISSION

LESSON TEXT—Luke 24:36-53.
GOLDEN TEXT—Behold, I send the promise of my Father upon you.—Luke 24:49.

Calvary and the darkness of the tomb gave way to the glory of the resurrection morning. Jesus had appeared to the two on the Emmaus road, and when they hurried back to Jerusalem to tell the eleven disciples, who were gathered behind barred doors, they found that He had already appeared, not only to the women, whose story they did not believe (see v. 11), but also to Peter (v. 34). While they were excitedly discussing this great wonder, apparently torn between belief and unbelief, joy and sorrow, suddenly Jesus appeared, coming through the barred door and greeting them with a blessed message of peace.

I. A Risen Christ for Fellowship (vv. 36-43).

The disciples were bewildered and slow to believe. Perhaps we would have done no better.

Note how patient and gracious He was in dealing with these frightened—and, in a sense, stupid—disciples. He might have been so discouraged by their unbelief as to be short and sharp with them, but He was not. We need to learn of Him. There are weak brethren even in the church of Christ who need our tender and patient consideration (see Rom. 15:1; 1 Thess. 5:14). Christ died for the weak brother too (1 Cor. 8:11).

What a blessed time of fellowship the disciples and the Lord had together. Such times are greatly needed for our mutual encouragement. Let us not forsake the assembling of ourselves together (Heb. 10:25). In a day of need and trial those that fear the Lord should speak often with one another and with the Lord (Mal. 3:16; 1 John 1:7).

II. A Dependable Book for Guidance and Instruction (vv. 44-49).

Jesus gave His own endorsement to the Old Testament as a dependable record of the prophecies concerning His person and His work of redemption. The critics of God's Word must face the fact that their man-made theories are in conflict with the testimony of the Son of God. Of the two, we know whom we will believe!

Notice that an important part of the Lord's fellowship with His disciples was devoted to opening their minds so they could understand the Scripture. The word "opened" might be translated "disentangled." He took out the prejudices, the wrong ideas, and set them free to understand and appreciate the Scriptures.

III. A Great Message for Proclamation (vv. 47-49).

Fellowship with Christ and a knowledge of God's Word which does not result in an aggressive witness for Him is quite useless. We meet Him and learn His truth that we may carry it out to all nations, not forgetting (note it!) to begin at the wicked Jerusalem which is right at our doorstep.

The business, and the only business, of the Church is that witness. We need to renew our commission, get it clearly in mind, and then proceed to carry it out. "But," someone may say, "we are not able for this great task." Of course not; but He is able, and will enable us.

"Power from on high" is the portion of God's witnesses. This world worships power—mechanical, political or military power. The greatest power of all is spiritual power, and God is ready to give it to His faithful witnesses.

Note that the message is one of repentance and remission of sins "in His name." The gospel of Christ is the primary need of men and women, boys and girls, in your community and mine; yes, and to the very ends of the earth.

IV. An Ascended Lord to Worship (vv. 50-53).

The ascension of Christ is not often made the subject of a sermon or message in the church, but it is an important doctrine of Scripture. It marks the completion of the work of Christ, and His return to the place of honor at the right hand of the Father. There, before the Father's throne, He is the advocate of every believer, the pledge and assurance of a perfect and eternal fellowship between God and believing man.

The worship which the disciples gave to Christ as He ascended went on as they returned to their appointed place of witness, for they continually praised Him. Such should be the attitude of every true believer: In the temple of his own heart there should always be the joy of the Lord as He is there worshiped and adored.

Now we have completed our study of Luke, but we cannot stop here, for the Gospel, according to Luke's own statement in Acts 1:1, was only the story of what Jesus "began both to do and to teach." The continuation of that account is found in the book of Acts, which we begin to study next Sunday.

Yesterdays

50 YEARS AGO
In the Antioch News
April 2, 1891

There is a four miles' pleasant ride from the town of Kilmarnock, one of the centers of the dairying interests of Ayrshire, is the dairy farm of Haining Mains, on the estate of the Duke of Portland. "Here, for some months past," says the London Times, "a new milking machine, invented by Mr. William Murchland, sanitary engineer of Kilmarnock, has been in operation."

The main business block of Antioch was destroyed by fire last Monday, with a loss of about $50,000.

The "Peaceful old days"—Europe is once more disturbed by a war scare. The supposed alliance between Russia and France is taken as evidence of an intention on the part of these two powers to make a move against Germany. Austria and Italy being parties to the triple alliance would in that event come to the assistance of Germany, and it is thought that England could be brought into line to help the Kaiser.

Michael Davitt declares that Mr. Parnell has no intention of resigning his seat in Parliament.

Pearl Starr, daughter of the notorious Belle Starr and reputed daughter of the equally notorious Cole Younger, in connection with a young man stole two fine horses from a farmer near St. Joe, twenty miles west of Gainesville, Texas. Officers are in pursuit.

A double murder and suicide occurred at the Casino variety theater in Spokane Falls, Washington, when Charles Elliott, a faro dealer, drew a pistol and fired several shots at the people on the stage, aiming at an actress of whom he was insanely jealous.

35 YEARS AGO
March 29, 1905

Plans for a large naval station at Lake Michigan have been prepared for consideration of the secretary of the navy. They provide for the expenditure of two and a half million dollars for the erection of a large group of buildings for the accommodation of at least a thousand young men under training for service in the navy. The establishment of such a station on the Great Lakes is the natural outcome of the liking of the young men of the West for service in the Navy.

The President has referred to Congress the dispute over the type of canal to be built at Panama.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. George Yopp, on Monday, March 26, a baby boy. Articles to be sold at auction April 4 by E. G. Henderson include a single buggy, Ivanhoe trap, Kimble cart and a side saddle.

The Chicago and Milwaukee Electric Railroad company has purchased 10 acres of land located about a half mile north of the Waukegan harbor, to be the location of a mammoth million dollar power house which has been much talked about during the past year.

22 YEARS AGO
March 27, 1919

The arrest at Fox Lake recently of twenty men charged with a violation of the migratory bird law which prohibits spring shooting of ducks will result in a test of the law's constitutionality. Up to four years ago when the federal law was put into effect, it was a common practice to hunt ducks both spring and fall in Illinois.

"If they speed up a little and get more ships we will be back in God's country before June," George Palmer writes from Duderhof, Germany. "I had a talk with George Garland last Saturday. He was driving a truck through this town when I was on duty, so he stopped and spent a half hour with me."

Backed by $100,000,000 voted by Congress, Herbert Hoover is directing America's part in feeding the famine-stricken millions of Europe.

Ground has been broken for a new drug store for B. J. Hooper at Lake Villa.

Notable Exception

The marquis of Queensberry was a notable exception to the contention of doctors that enthusiastic eaters are just digging their graves with their teeth. He always ate two breakfasts, two luncheons with regular meals at 5 p. m., 7 p. m., 10 p. m., midnight and 3 a. m. And he lived to be 85 years old. He was quite a ladies' man too, as when he died he left unopened 162 love letters.

Protecting Mahogany Table

Dish rings, also called potato rings because invented by the Irish silversmiths, in the last half of the Eighteenth century, were ornamental stands for circular wooden bowls. Their purpose was to protect the polished mahogany table from the hot bowls. They were usually placed in the middle of the table all during the meal to hold the various dishes.

First gold discovered in the United States was found in 1799 by Conrad Reed, a 12-year-old boy, in Cabarrus county, North Carolina.

EVER stop to figure why Nature gave you both a nose and a mouth to breathe through?

Your nose, barring colds, does all right for ordinary purposes.

But go up against some heavy exercise—and you can open up your mouth as well and increase the intake of oxygen.

Your 1941 Buick with Compound Carburetion* works something like that.

Its "nose," which is the forward one of your two throat-size carburetors, does a grand job of supplying "breath" for your engine on normal jobs.

But when the time comes that your engine has to dig in for a tough pull or a burst of power, then your extra foot-pressure on the gas treadle opens up the "mouth" and your engine "breathes" through two carburetors.

Simple, isn't it? Yet look what happens:

Your engine always consumes gas according to the need.

By simply taking it easy when easy does it and breathing deep when the work piles up, your power plant gets as much as 10% to 15% more mileage from the same gasoline.

That, in these days, is nothing to be sneezed at.

So why don't you get the whole story from your Buick dealer?

Lions Hear Navy Talk

The United States Navy, its traditions and development—past, present and future—was the subject of an interesting illustrated talk by Raymond Murray, of Skokie, before the Antioch Lions club at the dinner meeting Monday night at the Ball hotel.

Murray, a member of the Public Service organization, is also on the staff of a speakers' bureau of volunteers who give talks on matters of public interest. His address here was both informative and eloquent. He disclosed facts regarding our navy (except military secrets) that are not generally known among laymen. The navy, he said, in all its history has never conscripted a man for service—but that it had always been manned by volunteer service.

The cost of the huge armament program of today will run into staggering figures, the speaker said, pointing out that it must be remembered that we are only spending today what we saved following the disarmament treaty of 1922, following the first world war when the U. S. navy was the mightiest in the world. The present program is necessary to regain equality with other sea powers, the speaker said.

Vice-president George J. Joedicke presided at the meeting in the absence of Pres. Hachmeister.

A REPORT to America

The Ford Motor Company's business has always been to serve the needs of the American people. In providing them with low-cost transportation for the past 38 years, we have developed one of the country's largest and most useful industrial units. During a national emergency, we feel that these facilities should be devoted without reserve to our country's needs. Toward that end we started rolling months ago, with these results:

1 A $21,000,000 Ford airplane engine factory, started only 6 months ago, is nearly completed. Production will start with an initial order for 4,236 eighteen cylinder, air-cooled, double-row, radial engines.

2 We are building a new $800,000 Ford magnesium alloy foundry, one of the few in the country. It is already producing lightweight airplane engine castings.

3 Army reconnaissance cars — military vehicles of an entirely new type — are rolling off special Ford assembly lines at the rate of more than 600 a month. We have produced Army staff cars and bomber service trucks.

4 The government has given the "go-ahead" and work is now under way for the fast construction of an $11,000,000 Ford plant to produce bomber airframe assemblies by mass production methods.

5 Several months ago work was started, on our own initiative, on an entirely new 1500 horsepower airplane engine especially designed for mass production. This engine is now in the test stage and plans are being developed for producing it in large quantities when and if needed.

6 A Ford aircraft apprentice school has been established, to train 2000 students at a time.

That is a report of progress to date.

The experience and facilities of this company can be used to do much of the job which America now needs to get done in a hurry.

Our way of working, which avoids all possible red tape, enables us to get results and get them fast. This benefits users of our products and workers who produce them.

We are ready to make anything we know how to make, to make it to the limit of our capacity if need be, to make it as fast as we can go, and to start the next job whenever our country asks us to. And to this end, we know we have the full confidence and loyal support of the workmen throughout our plants.

Setting the Table

There are three basic requirements, all of which must be observed if a meal is to serve its twofold purpose of giving health and happiness. First, it must be planned to contain all the chemicals necessary to bodily health. Secondly, it must be tasty, and thirdly it must be properly served in as pleasant surroundings and in as attractive style as available equipment and general conditions make possible.

The first requisite for good service of meals is that hot dishes should be hot and cold dishes cold. The various items that make up a single dish must be chosen if possible for their color combinations. Everyone knows what well chosen splashes of brilliance do to a solid color gown. The same principal applies to garnishing dishes. Parsley, radishes, tomato slices, pineapple rings, mayonnaise, golden croutons and the myriad of other popular garnishes are the corsages or bright ribbons of good meals.

1. All utensils and dishes must be arranged with geometrical precision. A general feeling of order is the goal sought.

2. Every utensil which may be needed should be on the table to avoid delays.

3. Silverware and china should be polished as brightly as possible.

4. Cracked or chipped dishes should never be used. Besides being ugly, they are a distinct health menace.

5. Linen should be immaculate. It is far better to eat off doilies than the most beautiful of tablecloths with a single spot.

6. Never use flowers for a centerpiece unless they are fresh.

7. Allow at least 20 inches for each place at the table.

8. Every place should be set with a plate. The knife should be at the right of the plate, with the sharp edge of the blade inward. The fork should be at the left with the tines pointing upward. The water glass should be 2 or 3 inches above the knife blade and the bread and butter plate should be just above the fork, with butter knife across the plate. The napkin may be placed either on the plate or at the left of the fork. Spoons are placed at the right of the knife and are arranged from right to left, in their order of use. Additional forks are placed at the left, from left to right, in the order of use.

Snowy white table linen damask has remained for centuries as the richest of all table coverings for meals of great splendor. It is suitable and proper for use at every meal under almost any circumstances. Napkins should always match the tablecloth. Large ones 28-inch by 28-inch are proper for formal dinners but ones much smaller are proper for all other occasions.

Flowers in lovely vases or bowls and candles in silver holders are the most favored for table decorations and are in good taste at almost every meal. For cozy small meals flowers should not tower so high as to obstruct vision across the table.

Place Cards

It is proper to use place cards for comparatively small parties. Such cards should be dignified and, except at festive occasions, should only contain the name of the person, preceded by Miss, Mrs., Mr., Dr., etc. The cards should be so placed that they will not detract from the beauty and dignity of the place covers.

Household Hints

To improve the flavor of meat, add bits of left-over jelly when basting roast.

Running cold water into an aluminum pan while it is hot will cause it to warp out of shape.

Baking powder should always be stored in tightly covered containers.

Some cooks cook highly colored vegetables in milk to retain the color.

Chocolate cakes call for a moderate oven.

Strained orange juice can be used instead of milk in white and yellow cake recipes.

Shrinkage in woolen is usually due to over-washing. In ordinary circumstances, three minutes is long enough for them.

To prevent metal salt-shaker tops from corroding, cover the inside of the tops with paraffin.

Franklinia Tree

The famous Franklinia tree (Franklinia alatamaha x Marshall) has not been found growing in the wild anywhere since 1790. In 1765 John Bartram, a friend of Benjamin Franklin, was exploring in the woods of southeastern Georgia. In the vicinity of Fort Barrington he found a beautiful tree whose gorgeous blossoms, over three inches in diameter, resembled those of the camellia. He introduced the tree into his own famous garden in Philadelphia, naming it after his celebrated friend. All the known descendants of the tree, growing in cultivation, have come down from the specimens brought to Philadelphia.

Responsible for the wide use of the term, "Age of Mahogany," were the Eighteenth-century designers of England—Chippendale and the other great Georgians, Sheraton, Hepplewhite and Adam, all of whom used mahogany for most of their styles.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

By Edward C. Wayne

New Violence in Nazi Aerial Blitz Aimed to Cripple British Shipping; Destroyer 'Lanes' Across Atlantic Urged to Replace Hard-Hit Convoys

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

AERIAL: Blitz Groves

Nazi Germany brought out its heaviest air blitzkrieg, perhaps as a "workup" of an invasion attempt, and the results were not too happy, as far as the British defense was concerned.

The first three days of the main attack were directed at London, Liverpool and Bristol, and while the damage was heavy, and casualties correspondingly high, British aerial leaders were jubilant over the fact that 30 German attackers were shot down, and gave the credit to the night-fighting air arm, the anti-aircraft batteries, and a "new weapon."

This latter, it was later explained, consisted of some sort of anti-aircraft shell which contained coils of wire, which unwound when the shell exploded with lethal effect on enemy planes.

However, later news was not so favorable. The opening attack was followed by another terrific blast at Bristol, one at Glasgow and a third at Hull.

The first two cities, in a single night, reported around 1,000 casualties, and the blast at Hull was reported to have been even more severe. The British apparently figured that they might as well abandon any attempt to disguise the towns attacked, at least in news dispatches.

At first they would simply designate the town as "a northeast town" or a "town in the Midlands" or a "southeast town," and then, within minutes, the German releases would be out with the name of the city, and what observers reported from there.

This British reticence continued up to and including all the attacks except that on Hull. In this case, the morning dispatches said "a southeastern port town," but the afternoon papers were able to carry the story under a direct Hull date-line.

It was apparent that Hitler's air-men were not trying day attacks, being satisfied with heavy night bombings in large force.

One after another they were trying to knock various British provincial cities out of the picture. Charts were being printed showing it was costing Hitler an estimated $43,000 to kill each civilian slain in air-bombing.

Britain published her losses since the start of the war at 25,000.

The ominous character of the raids on Bristol, Glasgow and Hull were that although the German raiders came over in large numbers, judging by the weight of bombs dropped, in two nights the total British claims of bombers shot down was exactly two.

Prior to this attack, British commentators had been proudly saying an estimated 3 per cent of the bombers were being shot down, and that if this figure could be raised to 10, then the German air force could not stand the strain.

Those observers who saw in the heavy blitz from the air a prelude to an invasion attempt, while they were numerous, ranged all the way from "any day," advocates to one high Japanese official, who, at 10,000 mile distance, blandly announced that the "Germans would land on British soil in a matter of hours."

Hull, Glasgow and Bristol, the hardest hit towns, are not noteworthy as being invasion-resistant centers but are rather famous as general shipping centers.

The first is the central ship-building point, the second is a great center for shipping to and from the United States, and Hull is where most of the sailors are trained.

There seemed more weight, at the moment, to the argument that the heavy air bombing of such centers was aimed at Britain's general ocean life-lines, and not as a set-up for the landing of troops.

CONVOY: Or Lanes?

Britain was sticking to the convoy system, while American shipping experts suggested abandoning it, and substituting the "lane protection" system, which seemed full of typical Yankee ingenuity.

The Great Circle route, about 2,000 miles long, according to this project, was to be patrolled with at least 50 destroyers, each of them given 50 miles to patrol 10 times a day.

That would mean that every 2.4 hours a destroyer would pass any given spot in the lane, and with a constant lookout, should be able to spot enemy submarines.

The plan would be putting 40 destroyers on the lane, with 10 allowed to be in port refueling and getting supplies.

Advantages were these—not only a better lookout and more warship strength for protection purposes, but a much more efficient use of ships. For under the convoy system, if 40 ships are gathered together, the speed of the fastest is the speed of the slowest.

The proposed Traffic Lane Plan would permit the faster vessels to move at top speed from one side of the Atlantic to the other, permitting them to take many more loads, in the long run. They would sail from destroyer to destroyer, and it would be the latter's duty to keep the lane clear of enemy raiders.

And the present great hazard, of lumping 40 or 50 slow-moving vessels together for a mass target, would be removed.

Plan Debated

As an interesting background for this very question of convoys, and how they ought to be conducted, Washington debated the statement of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, chief advocate of the lease-lend bill, urging that the U. S. provide guards for convoys.

The President, conferring with the press, dismissed the question, saying there had been some reports to that effect, but that he had paid no attention to them.

However, in view of the Committee's action, it was believed that the President was more interested than he was willing to admit. British authorities, also, it was learned, were expecting the United States to do something along this line.

It was recalled that the British naval leaders had said that they had men enough on hand to man the entire U. S. navy, if necessary, and this was taken to mean that Britain was prepared for a "lease-lend" of more naval vessels.

There were two possible plans being discussed:
1. The transfer of more destroyers and possibly cruisers to Britain so they could be assigned to convoy service.

2. An extension of the neutrality zone further into the North Atlantic to keep the Nazi warships away further, and/or to permit U. S. naval vessels to patrol those areas and release the British ships for the more distant patrol duty.

The navy department transmitted to ship operators the news, sent to the U. S. by Churchill, that Nazi raiders and submarines were operating inside the forty-second meridian of longitude, some of which is within the present neutrality zone.

ETHIOPIA:

Nearing Fall

The "battle of Ethiopia" in which the Italians, as they did in Albania, started out with successes and ended up with reverses, seemed about in its final phases, with a British victory, if not certain, at least extremely likely.

This again was a reversal of early war predictions by the British themselves, who had warned the English public that it could expect no success whatever in the general African campaign.

STRIKES: Hold Attention

Here are some of the pickets which surrounded the Harvill Aircraft Die Casting corporation plant early in the labor dispute there.

See Below

Two strikes, one big in volume and one other involving only 423 men, but holding a vast menace to plane building, held the attention of those in charge of production management.

The big strike was at the $5,900,000 construction project at Wright field, Dayton, Ohio, huge testing ground for army airplanes. The strikers were refusing to negotiate, saying "we'll go back to work as soon as they chase those other fellows, (non-union members) off."

This was a strike of the A. F. of L. building trades unions of Dayton. It seemed, to the public, a picaresque matter. The work of thousands was being held up by 400 A. F. of L. men, who objected because an electrical subcontractor put 4 C.I.O. men to work.

The contract of the electrical subcontractor was held up, and the men went back to work. The contract finally was reinstated, and out went the men again. There was talk at this point of the government taking over.

The other strike was that of the Harvill manufacturing company, an organization headed by a 42-year-old former soda jerker who invented a process for casting airplane parts from aluminum and magnesium, light metals.

Harvill's plant, employing only 423, makes parts for practically every big plane manufacturer on the Pacific coast, including such giants as Boeing and Lockheed, Douglas and Vultee, Vega and North American.

The men were asking raises from 50 to 75 cents an hour, and the strike, according to Harvill himself, was threatening plane factory shut-downs that would throw 60,000 out of work and would jeopardize the construction of thousands of warplanes.

This the workers denied, saying that the factory was well ahead of the needs of the other plants. Here, too, the government and the defense administration were looking with an anxious eye, wondering how far to go to break the walkout.

TURKEY: Green Light?

The Bulgar-Greek front continued to teeter on the brink of war, and observers were interested to hear through "grapevine" channels that Soviet Russia had given Turkey the "green light" to go ahead and defy Germany.

Whether this was wishful thinking or not, many of those on the scene considered it was sound politics and even sounder diplomacy.

They harked back to the old statement, which has been held to since the beginning of the war, that Russia's long-range policy would be that of a "fisher in troubled waters," that she would egg on the weaker party against the stronger, particularly where this suited Russia's convenience, and then step in for her own personal grab.

They pointed to the Polish experience, and the Rumanian outcome as proof of this contention.

Just as Yugoslavia was tottering and about to be forced to sign a Nazi pact after showing plainly that her sympathies were on the other side, and just as the British had landed 300,000 men in Macedonia and Thrace, and were said to have more on the way, and just as Turkey was debating whether or not to "toss in with England," came the dispatches about Russia's attitude.

Russia was soundly placed in this position. The Soviet is friendly with the Bulgars, also with Yugoslavia, both by race and general sympathy.

and especially with Bulgaria because of her location on the Black sea.

Russia had picked up half of Poland, a huge slice of Rumania, and was sitting with her legions ready to grab off the Black sea coast of Rumania if the slightest chance offered.

RAIL WRECKS:

Two

The death list was not large, but the number of injured extremely heavy in two railroad wrecks within one day of each other.

Near Pittsburgh a crack flier was purposely derailed, crashed into the Ohio river, with four dead and scores hurt.

Near Ravenna, Ohio, a commuting train, loaded with hundreds of workers bound for a government arsenal, backed out onto a cross over and was cut in two by a freight train.
